Warm Wishes to All Dear Readers!

"Sustainable development is development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs". Sustainability is the foundation for today's global framework for international cooperation. Sustainable development has been the top most global challenge as the world copes with the climate change, bio diversity loss, conflict and resource scarcity etc.

In the same context, it is our immense pleasure to publish this IJISD Special Issue on: "Achieving Sustainability through Corporate Social Responsibility" This journal is a wide interdisciplinary publication by Inderscience which seeks to further debate and discuss the important concept of sustainable development. IJISD carries original and full-length papers that reflect the latest research and developments in both theoretical and practical aspects of Environment, Economic and Society with Sustainability. The scope of the journal therefore allows for contributions which have a local, national or global focus from a philosophical to a practical perspective. All contributions are refereed with the aim of providing the readership with high quality, original material.

Your suggestions and reviews will serve as guiding principles for our upcoming journal issues!

Happy Learning!
