EJIM is the leading International Management journal with a European perspective. While it was the first international journal devoted to fostering an understanding of issues in international management theory and practice in Europe, the journal scope, authors and topics expanded beyond Europe to include papers devoted to the advancement of international management theory, practice and methods. EJIM invites conceptual, theoretical, methodological, empirical, qualitative and review papers advancing the field of international management.

Topics covered include:

- International management in Europe
- International entrepreneurship and innovation
- International human resource and talent management
- International organisational communications and information systems
- International strategy and business policy
- International marketing management
- Methodological aspects in international and comparative research
- Cross-cultural Management
- Global leadership
- Comparative management systems
- Global spirituality and religion in management
- International value and supply chain management
- International management reviews and meta-analysis
