Press Release– Asia’s Top OHV OEMs to meet in Singapore

In the wake of the global financial crisis, Asia’s largest off-highway vehicle manufacturers are set to meet on May 18-20 for the 4th Asia Off-Highway Vehicle Summit 2016 in Singapore in order to share ideas and discuss how to sustain the levels of growth and development that are currently taking place in Asia.

Latest emission standards and technical updates across Asia will all play a prominent role at the summit as many Asian governments continue to encourage sustainable and environmentally friendly economies. Government officials from China, India, Singapore, Indonesia etc. will be present to explain the latest changes in policy and emission standards and the leading OHV engineers will also attend and offer their insights into the latest technological advances, which would cover various power systems and internet-based marketing channels.

This summit is part of Duxes’ OHV series which has run since 2008 and has included fourteen successful events. Not only will this be a great opportunity to familiarize oneself with all the important developments in the industry but a valuable chance to network with peers in the industry and make useful business contacts. We at Duxes look forward to seeing you there!
