

Bioprocessing:

Biotherapeutics drug production has seen significant growth in recent years and is now a core element of the pharmaceutical industry, however, their complexity poses challenges for manufacturing.

The Global Bioprocessing & Bioanalytics Congress will examine the latest developments in the technologies and methods being used for progressing biotherapeutics manufacturing processes.

Covering topics across:

- Strategy and technology
- Upstream method development
- Quality control, analytics and regulation
- Purification and recovery methods