Scope of the Journal

IJHPCN addresses the most innovative developments in high-performance computing and networking such as information and system architectures, grid- and web-based information management and infrastructures, data storage, management, analysis and visualisation, advanced networking with applications, scalable parallel computing, cluster and grid computing, distributed systems, and high performance scientific and engineering computing with applications.

Contents:

IJHPCN provides an international forum to report, discuss and exchange experimental or theoretical results, novel designs, work-in-progress, experience, case studies, and trend-setting ideas. Papers should be of a quality that advances the state of the art in the field, bringing together the latest advances in technology, science, research, application, and education, and stimulating future trends in the areas.

Topics covered include:

- Cluster, grid, peer-to-peer, GPU, multi/many-core and cloud computing
- Quantum computing technologies and applications
- Large-scale workflow and virtualisation technologies
- Blockchain
- Cyber security and cryptography
- Machine learning, deep learning and artificial intelligence
- Autonomic computing; data management/distributed data systems
- Energy-efficient computing infrastructure
- Big data infrastructure, storage and computation management
- Advanced next-generation networking technologies
- Parallel and distributed computing, language and algorithms
- Programming environments and tools, scheduling and load balancing
- Operation system support, I/O, memory issues
- Problem solving, performance modelling/evaluation
