Scope of the Journal

IJ IIM is a fully refereed journal which publishes papers analysing all aspects of international and intercultural issues with regard to information management. IJ IIM welcomes all scholastic researches addressing how international or intercultural questions can produce information systems/information technology (IS/IT) related problems, which may involve changing management concepts, modelling, methodologies, and business process engineering/re-engineering as well as ethical and security concerns.

Subject coverage:
Papers are solicited that address these issues from an empirical and/or conceptual point of view. The topics of interest to IJ IIM include but are not limited to:

- Different cultural perceptions of ethical, privacy, and security problems
- Case studies of all IS/IT related issues in different countries
- The influence of corporate culture on normative aspects of IS/IT
- The relationship of national and corporate culture to all IS/IT related issues
- The role of various IS/IT theories with regards to internationally acceptable criteria
- Comparison of IS/IT theories with regards to cultural determinants of IS/IT use
- Intercultural/international moralities and IS/IT
- The international or intercultural acceptability/enforceability of codes of ethics
- Culturally divergent perceptions of management of IS/IT
- Risk management in intercultural information systems.
- Project management for intercultural information systems design and development
- Changing IS/IT management philosophy due to cultural variation
- Intercultural e-commerce design, development, and management
- Intercultural supply chain management
- Intercultural customer relationship management
- Intercultural decision support systems
- Business intelligence in intercultural environment
- Intercultural issues of business process engineering/re-engineering
- Software engineering with intercultural concerns
- Educational and training in intercultural information management
