Scope of the Journal

ISSN: 1750-0028 (Print), ISSN: 1750-0036 (Online)

IJIM publishes papers investigating international and intercultural issues with regard to information management. Because of cultural and national differences, information technology that works perfectly in one place may not work in another, and identical information systems may have different uses and impacts across countries. IJIM welcomes scholarly research addressing all aspects of international and intercultural issues associated with information systems and information technology, especially emerging new technologies (e.g. artificial intelligence and robotics, big data and analytics, blockchains and fintech).

Topics covered include:

- Artificial intelligence and robotics in different countries
- Big data and knowledge management across countries
- Blockchains and fintech in different countries
- Digital innovation and entrepreneurship across countries
- Digital supply chain management in the global economy
- Customer relationship management in international contexts
- Managing technological changes in multinational corporations
- IS/IT design and development across national contexts
- Impact of national culture on IS/IT strategies and uses
- Global labour markets for IT personnel and skills
- IS/IT education and training for international workforces
- Managing virtual teams across national borders
- International/intercultural privacy concerns for IS/IT
- Green IS/IT issues in different national contexts
- Information security issues across countries
