Scope of the Journal

ISSN: 2040-3615 (Print), ISSN: 2040-3607 (Online)

IJMMNO addresses mathematical modelling, algorithm development, numerical methods, computer simulations and numerical optimisation as well as applications and case studies. It focuses on multidisciplinary and cross-disciplinary research to communicate new algorithms and techniques in mathematical modelling and numerical optimisation and promote real-world applications in all major areas of sciences, engineering and industry. IJMMNO publishes full-length original research papers, with a section dedicated to short research notes and concise case studies using modelling, simulation and optimisation.

Contents

IJMMNO publishes high-quality original papers, review papers, short research notes and case studies, conference reports and technical reports, book reviews and research news. Special issues devoted to important topics, especially the latest development in the relevant areas, will be published when necessary, to be edited by guest editors and/or proposed by conference organisers.

Topics covered include:

- Mathematical modelling/analysis
- Mathematical/numerical models/algorithms/techniques: review/analysis/comparison
- New mathematical models/novel algorithms, multidisciplinary research
- Algorithm formulation/analysis
- Modelling of physical, chemical, biological, environmental, industrial processes
- Numerical methods/analysis, error estimation, stability
- Optimisation techniques
- Statistical simulations/techniques; computer simulations and visualisation
- Network modelling/theory
- Case studies/applications in all areas of sciences/engineering/industry
